Inflow shows signs of weakness

Vietnam foreign flow

Foreign demand has slowed down but the market kept ending up to be net bought. Net buy value was USD37mn, down 50% WoW.

Particularly, foreign demand focused on Financials and Materials due to large buy orders on STB, HCM, CTG, and HPG. Besides, foreign demand also spread to Industrials thanks to the strong buying activity on LCG. On the contrary, Real Estate and Consumer Staples were divested the most, mainly driven by large sell orders on VHM, BCM, KDH, DGC, VNM, and KDC.

South East Asia ETF flow

Last week, outflow remained across SEA but the outflow was still not significant. Net outflow was USD1mn. The outflow was mainly driven by the strong divestment across Singapore (USD10mn) and Indonesia (USD8mn). However, the outflow was partially faded by the inflow across Vietnam (USD9mn) and Thailand (USD8mn).

Inflow across Vietnam kept decreasing, recording at USD9mn, a 4-month low. Notably, the inflow only focused on FTSE Vietnam ETF whilst there was no demand on other ETFs. Inflow across Vietnam has slowed down for 2 consecutive weeks as well as inflow has not spread to major ETFs which is the sign of weakness. Thus, there is the high probability for outflow to occur in upcoming weeks.
